The last book order of the year will be placed on May 27th

Keep your eye out for the date of our library's GRAND OPENING in June!

A Note From Mrs. Welch

Welcome to May and our last full month of school. Here's a peek into what's going on in Room 215:

- We are deep into an engaging science unit on weather and climate. Students are becoming experts on these concepts through an Orangutan Reserve research project.
- This week we will focus on opinion writing through a piece on dog-friendly public parks
- Our next math unit is focused on shapes, including attributes and categories, perimeter and area, and partitioning. Please read the family letters that go home to learn how you can support your child's math progress

Our students continue to have a BLAST at recess with the new climber, swings, and gaga ball pit!

THANK YOU!

I continue to be absolutely overwhelmed by the number of gift cards I have received from families for supplies through the Caring for Classrooms program. Thank you SO much. I am restocking supplies and purchasing high-quality supplies. I am also able to purchase engaging nonfiction materials for our students. I can't wait to share it all with them -
THANK YOU!

AND MORE THANKS!

I felt SO appreciated during Teacher Appreciation Week! Thank you all for the kind notes, yummy treats, and thoughtful gifts. You absolutely spoiled me with all my favorite things. Thank you for thinking of me during that week. I absolutely love my job and am grateful for each of your children. It's an honor to be part of their lives in this way. Thank you!
